"It's appreciating the beauty in life that makes life worth living"- Linda Poole, Festival Director.

Every year, we in Vancouver are fortunate enough to enjoy the prefty colors that come along with spring. One of these very familiar colors is the soft prink of cherry hossoms that cover our brees during the season. If you actually too and take the time to look around our beautiful city, you'd notice just how many cherry blossom hees we have—along residential sheets, at the local parks, and by the skytain satisons. Aloppether, Vancouver has a proximately 37,000 cherry trees, many of which originated as gifts from Japan. It is because of these generous gifts that Linda 700c, current festable infectived, decided to create a stebbal in Vancouver to celebrate the beauty and joy the cherry trees bring to everyone.

The Cherry Blossom Festival, with the continued support of its benefactor Dr. David C. Lam, has been growing since its founding year in 2005. I asked Linda what outcome she envisions from having the Cherry Blossom Festival taking place in Vancouver, and she replied simply.

"The pink blossoms give off inspiration to all those who take in their beauty. I want to unite citizens of Vancouver through enjoyment of the cherry blossoms and bring them together through an active

And just what events are available for us to partake in this year?
